The Accomac Public High School.

The establishment of a High School at Accomac became assured in May, 1904, when the Lee District School Board and the trustees of the Drummondtown Academy agreed to unite in the support of a school that would afford all the advantages of an academy in curriculum, while the cost of tuition would be reduced to a minimum. Thus it has been made possible for those wishing a secondary school training in Latin, Mathematics, and the higher branches generally, to secure such a training in a thorough manner at home and at very small cost. Through the efforts of those who recognized the importance of having a good high school at Accomac the undertaking became a success. The size, central location, and cultural environment of the town unite in demanding better educational advantages and the people have become thoroughly alive to the fact.

In order, therefore, to insure the success of the school the coming season and to prepare for its growth and greater efficiency in the future, the people should give it their united support from the very start, as they have shown themselves interested in its possibilities.

This school is intended to be the high school for Lee District—being controlled by the District Board—as well as for the town of Accomac.

The High School department is designed (1) to prepare pupils for the colleges and universities of the State, and (2) to provide a well-rounded education for those that cannot avail themselves of the advantages of a college course.

While a thorough grading cannot be effected the first year, it will be the purpose of the teachers to exercise care from the beginning to bring about a uniform classification of all pupils. This can be accomplished only very gradually with many, and no pupil will be advanced or retarded unmeritedly in the interest of grading.

The teachers have been selected with care on the basis of efficiency, experience and character. The principal, who is a B. A. of Washington and Lee University, has taught two years as principal of the High School at Pungoteague, Va. The following have been appointed to teach the coming season:

Mr. A. L. Burger, principal; Miss Susie C. LeCato, 1st assistant; Miss Tibbie Grant, 2nd assistant; Miss Daisy Ayres, 3rd assistant.

Tuition will be charged the following: (1) Pupils attending one or more classes in the High School department; (2) Pupils attending the grades below the High School who come from within the precinct of other schools; (3) Pupils continuing in the grades below the High School after the close of the free school term. Following are the rates: In the High School department, $1.50 per month; in grades below the High School, $1.00 per month.

For further information, address the Superintendent of Schools, the Clerk of the Board, or the Principal, (Fincastle, Va., prior to September 1st.)

Deaths.

Rev. Henry Petty, former pastor of Drummondtown Baptist Church, died during last week at Chatham, Va.

Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Evans, of near Accomac C. H., died after a short illness, Monday night, aged four years.

Mr. John Wessells, a respected citizen, died at Winterville last Saturday, aged about 70 years. His wife and several children survive him.

Marriage.

Mathews—Wessells.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bates Wessells was the scene of a very pretty wedding Thursday evening, July 14, when their daughter, Miss Marie Adeline, became the bride of Mr. George Socrates Mathews.

At the appointed hour, the bridal party entered the tastefully decorated parlor, to the soft strains of the organ, presided over by Mrs. Baker, sister of the bride. Rev. Mr. Harte, pastor of the bride, officiated in an impressive manner, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Payne, pastor of the groom.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white silk trimmed with mousseline de soie and white silk medallion applique and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The groom wore conventional black with white boutonniere.

After the ceremony a delightful reception was given the bridal party and immediate relatives by the bride's parents.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bates Wessells, of Hopetown. The groom a prosperous young farmer, is the son of Mr. Samuel H. Mathews. The best wishes of a host of friends follow the happy pair.
